He used a piano and a harp and a full strings section with violins, violas, chess and contrabass. He even used a human choir with tenors, baritones, and basses in the men section and sopranos, mezzo sopranos and altos in the women section.

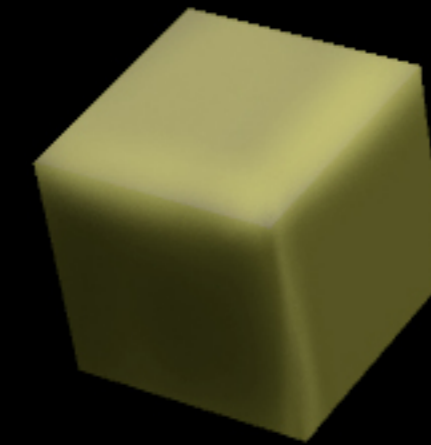

Tom is later a student in physics at a special school for gifted children where all the students have a score of over 150 IQ. Tom is the youngest, but has the highest IQ of 205! At the age of 10, he writes a computer program that improves the speed of his mother's search engine by 53%.
